BOLD AUTO THEFT. NEAR REDDINGTON

Touring Car Belonging to Horace Bunton Taken From His Garage by Two Strangers.

RECOVERED NEAR COLUMBUS

Single Occupant Fled When Car is Stopped by Police—Shots Are Fired at The Thief.

A touring car belonging to Horace Bunton, a Redding township farmer, was stolen from his garage by two strangers about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night, but was recovered two hours later by the police at Columbus. An unsuccessful attempt was also made to steal a car belonging to F. C. Foster, of Brownstown, who was transacting business at the home of Wesley Covert, who lives near the Bunton home. Immediately upon the discovery of the theft of the Bunton car the police at Columbus were notified and they stood guard at the bridge south of that city. When the stolen car approached the police ordered the driver to stop. He complied with the request, but fled. Shots fired after him failed to bring him to a halt. As two men are thought to have been implicated in the theft it is thought that one of them left the machine between Reddington and Columbus, possibly with the view of stealing another machine.

Mr. Foster was driving along the road between the homes of Lyman Gruber and Mr. Covert, which are about a quarter of a mile apart, when he approached two men. He made inquiry of them as to the location of Mr. Covert's home and they replied that they were strangers but thought that he lived "down the road" in the opposite direction from which Mr. Foster was driving. He returned to Mr. Gruber's home and there learned where Mr. Covert lived.

When Mr. Foster approached the Covert home he noticed two men in the yard but supposed they were neighbors or possibly lived there. He left his automobile in the yard while he talked with Mr. Covert. After the business transaction was completed, Mr. Foster returned to the place where he left his car and discovered it was missing. A search revealed that it had been pushed down a hill some distance from the house. Carburetor trouble had caused the men to abandon the car.

It appears that when the strangers realized that they would not be able to take the Foster machine, they went across the road to the garage where Mr. Bunton kept his automobile. They pushed the car from the garage and drove north. The lights were not switched on until after the men had passed Reddington.

Mr. Foster and several Redding township people reported the attempt to steal his car to the telephone exchange. In the meantime someone suggested that the men might have taken Mr. Bunton's car from the garage across the road, and an investigation proved the supposition was correct. People arriving at West

WILLIAM COX DIES AT BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

Body of Former Resident and Railroad Conductor to be Brought Here for Burial Friday.

A message was received here this morning by relatives announcing the death of William Cox, a former Baltimore & Ohio railroad conductor which occurred at his home in Birmingham, Ala., at 12:30 last night following an illness lasting over a year. The remains will be brought here for burial in Riverview cemetery and will arrive over the Pennsylvania railroad Friday morning at 9:54. The body will be taken direct to the cemetery where a short service will be conducted by the Rev. J. H. More pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The deceased is well-known in this city and had many friends residing here. Mr. Cox spent his entire life railroading. He was a conductor on the old O. & M. road and continued

COMMITTEE TO FIX NEW WATER RATES

Council Plans to Take Action at Once To Make Rate Satisfactory to Consumers and Water Co.

WILL CHANGE JANUARY 1, 1920

City Officials Have Opportunity to Make New Rates Every Ten Years According to Franchise.

One of the most important tasks that confronts the present city administration is the fixing of a new schedule of water rates to become effective January 1. The matter was brought before the council by Mayor Burkart at the adjourned session held Wednesday evening and as a result a committee was appointed to start work at once arranging a new schedule of rates to be charged during the next ten years. The committee is composed of Mayor C. W. Burkart, City Attorney John M. Lewis and councilman John Goodale, J. A. Hoadley and Perry Collins.

It is the desire of the council committee to establish a rate that will be satisfactory to the water consumers and the Seymour Water Company. Whether or not the rates will be lowered or increased remains to be seen but in all possibility the council committee will put up a fight to make the cost of water to the users less than it has cost them during the ten years just ending.

In addressing the council in regard to the making of new water rates Mayor Burkart stated that it was one of two of the most important matters to come before the administration during their terms as servants of the city. He referred to the other very important matter as being the installing of a modern sewerage system.

The opportunity of fixing new water rates presents itself to the city council once every ten years. The matter is an important one and every member of the council realizes the fact and will work to the end that a reasonable rate is fixed.

It was pointed out by Mayor Burkart that the time in which the city could purchase the water plant had passed for another thirty years. The franchise that the Seymour Water Company holds with the city provides that the city will have the opportunity to purchase the water plant at the end of thirty years. That time passed in July at which time the matter of having a municipal owned water system was talked but it was out of the question for the city to purchase the plant at that time as it is pointed out that the public service commission would not permit the floating of enough bonds to pay for the plant.

The council committee will start work on the new water schedule at once and the new rates will likely be fixed within the next few weeks so that the proposed schedule can be taken up with the water company.

ASSURANCE OF 57 CENTS SCHOOL TAX

T. A. Mott Appears Before State Tax Board at Indianapolis Wednesday Afternoon.

DECISION IS NOT RENDERED

Several Township Trustees Before Board Wednesday to Take up Official Business Matters.

Thomas A. Mott, superintendent of the city schools, who appeared before the state board of taxation at Indianapolis Wednesday relative to a school tax ley for Seymour under the new tax system was given assurance that the rate would be fixed at 57 cents per hundred dollars. Mr. Mott with members of the school board has given the matter careful consideration and it is figured that a 57 cent rate would be the lowest possible to supply enough revenue to run the city schools efficiently.

Mr. Mott stated today that under the new tax system the 57 cent rate would afford about $5,000 more money for school purposes than last year. The school tax in the city a year ago was $1.05 under the old taxing system. It is pointed out that the increase in salaries of school instructors and teachers required by an act of the last legislature made necessary that more funds be raised for school purposes. Part of the $5,000 increase in the school funds will be used in paying the increase in salaries and part in paying off school bonds that fall due in 1920.

Although the state tax board has not rendered its final decision in the matter of the school rate for the city of Seymour, superintendent Mott received assurance that it would grant the rate asked. It is expected that the matter will be definitely settled by the board within the next few days.

Several township trustees from Jackson county were before the state tax board in Indianapolis Wednesday in regard to taxes in their respective townships. Some of the trustees requested an increase in the school tax in order to meet necessary expenses which have increased over former years and it is understood that all of the trustees received favorable consideration by the tax board in regard to different matters brought before it. However, all of the matters presented by the Jackson county officials were taken under consideration and final action by the board is expected in the near future.

MANY TOMATOES HANDLED AT RIDER'S LOCAL PLANT

Hundreds of Cases Received and Steady Work is Assured The Rest of The Season.

The local plant of the Rider Packing Company is handling hundreds of crates of tomatoes and with the large daily receipts the indications are that the pack will not be completed for some time. The company can use a number of additional peelers and steady work is assured for the balance of the season. With the scale that is paid for this work good wages can be made and a large number of women and girls are employed at the plant at this time. The rain Wednesday night, although light, is expected to prolong the tomato growing season and arrangements are being made to receive hundreds of crates within the next few days.

LOCAL RAILROAD MAN

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Theodore Plummer, Baltimore & Ohio brakeman, narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday afternoon near Moores Hill while standing on the engine step looking back to see if a break beam was down when he collided with one of the twin bridges.

The engineer noticed the dangerous position Plummer was in and called to him in time to prevent serious injury. Mr. Plummer had his back and left arm bruised as a result of the accident and will be unable to work for several days.

SUIT INVOLVING LAND DEALS ENDED

Judgment Entered in Rush Circuit Court Exonerating W. H. Eikenberry and Others.

CONSPIRACY WAS ALLEGED

William Dagler, of Rushville, Filed Action in Attempt to Recover Damages.

A suit filed in Rush circuit court by William Dagler, of Rushville, against William H. Eikenberry and others to recover a sum of money and certain farm land which the plaintiff alleged in his complaint was procured from him by a conspiracy, has been settled. Eikenberry, who has done some real estate business in this county, was exonerated by the settlement.

The Rushville Republican carries the account of the settlement of the action which is of interest here.

The complaint in this case charged that William H. Eikenberry as the head of a conspiracy, defrauded Dagler out of 20 acres of land in Rush county, a sum of money and 100 acres of land in Morgan county, Indiana, by deeding him a farm in Ohio which was of little or no value; that the deed in question was made by William Sanford and the Rushville property and the Morgan county land was deeded to Sanford. Under this paragraph of complaint attorneys say it would have been possible for the court to have found for Dagler on his charge of conspiracy against all the parties he sued or to have found in favor of the defendants on a conspiracy charge, and at the same time found that any one of the defendants was guilty of defrauding Dagler out of his land and money through the fraudulent representations.

The decree and judgment which was entered in open court, by agreement of all the parties, provides that the Sanfords convey to some person selected by Dagler 20 acres of land lying immediately west of Rushville, formerly owned by Captain U. D. Cole, and that Dagler convey to Sanford 95 acres of land near Bloomington, Indiana, which Dagler finally received in this trade. This is accepted by Dagler as a full settlement of all matters sued for in the complaint in question in which he asked damages amounting to $82,000.00. Sanford retains 100 acres of land in Morgan county, worth probably $15,000.00 conveyed by Dagler to him, and also retains whatever money was paid him in addition thereto.

The judgment is especially interesting in view of the fact that it entirely and completely exonerates William H. Eikenberry, Alva N. Harold, Oliver J. Frazee, William Boyd, Arthur P. Forcum and Phar-

G. A. R. TO HOLD MEETING AT VERNON SEPTEMBER 25

Reunion of the 45th Regiment of Civil War Will be Held at The Same Time.

W. J. Houchen, of this city, secretary of the 145th Civil War regimental organization, has announced that a reunion of that regiment will be held at Vernon on Thursday, September 25. Printed cards recently sent to the members stated that the reunion would be held on Wednesday, September 25. Mr. Houchen calls attention to the fact that the date is correct, but that the meeting is on Thursday instead of Wednesday.

The reunion of the regiment is to be a feature of the G. A. R. Fourth district convention September 25 at Vernon. A large number of local veterans are expecting to attend the convention and reunion and expect to meet many of their comrades there.

AIRPLANES USED IN FLOODED AREA

Crafts Employed to Search Along Texas Coast for Victims of Sunday's Hurricane.

DEATH LIST MAY REACH 600

Cold, Driving Rain Adds to Intense Misery Already Prevailing In Stricken District.

By United Press
Corpus Christi, Tex., Sept. 18.—Death toll of Sunday's tidal wave and hurricane today was estimated at from 300 to 600.

Reports from Aransas Pass estimated the dead at Port Aransas at 350, but the United Press was unable to confirm this figure. Earlier reports had placed the known dead at not more than thirty.

A cold, driving rain which continued for thirty-six hours added to the intense misery already prevailing throughout the storm area.

Arrival of an additional relief train from Houston last night brought more workers and supplies. It is believed clearing weather today would serve to mitigate the suffering.

Airplanes which scouted the beaches for bodies and possible survivors were forced to give up flights yesterday afternoon because of the rain.

One plane which made its way over Aransas Pass, Rockport and Port Aransas, was unable to land in that vicinity, where water still is reported high.

The air searchers were to resume their work, if possible, this morning, according to military authorities.

Lieutenant Colonel Porter today did not confirm a report widely circulated last night that two ghouls had been shot for looting. It is known, however, sentries and patrols have orders to suppress looting with the utmost rigor.

The city still was without lights last night. Water service has been restored.

The Nueces Hotel, a large brick structure which was in the path of the storm, has survived. None of the 500 guests who were in the building when the storm struck, were drowned. Every window was broken out and water stood deep in the lobby.

BOY RUN OVER BY FORD AUTOMOBILE TRUCK

Virgil Hutchinson Injured While Trying to Catch Moving Machine at Noon Today.

Virgil Hutchinson, 14 year old son of William Hutchinson, was painfully injured at noon today when he attempted to jump on a moving Ford automobile truck driven by John Greenwell on Tipton street.

One of the rear wheels passed over the boy's body. The lad was taken to Dr. M. F. Gerrish's office and an examination proved that no bones were broken. The boy was bruised about the hips. Young Hutchinson is employed at the Seymour Woolen Mills. He will be unable to work for several days.

Married.

A marriage license was issued today to Simon Goen and Addie Brown, both of Carr township. They were married at 9:30 this morning in the Clerk's office by Rev. R. I. Black, pastor of the Brownstown Methodist church.

Rev. J. E. Fishbach, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, went to Cincinnati this morning. He will return to this city Saturday morning. Mrs. Fishbach and children, Miss Veronica, Osborne and Clifton, arrived in this city today at noon from Cincinnati.

WILSON REPLIES TO 5 QUESTIONS

President Answers Queries Put to Him by San Francisco Association for League of Nations.

BRITISH HAVE SIX VOTES

Says League Cannot Order Troops From America to Any Part of The World.

By United Press

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 18.—After one of the most riotous greetings he has received, President Wilson today planned to go to Oakland to speak in favor of treaty ratification.

Wilson today made public the following questions propounded by the San Francisco Association for the League of Nations, and his answers thereto:

1. Will you state the underlying consideration which dictated an awarding of six votes to the British empire in the assembly, and is it true that Great Britain will out vote us in the league of nations and thereby control the league's action?

Answer: The consideration which led to assigning six votes to the self governing portions of the British empire was, that they have in effect, in all but foreign policies, become autonomous self governing states, their policy in all but foreign affairs being independent of the control of the British government and in many respects dissimilar from it. But it is not true that the British empire can outvote us in the league of nations and therefore control the action of the league, because in every matter except the admission of new members to the league, no action can be taken without the concurrence of a unanimous vote of the representatives of the states which are members of the council, so that in all matters of action, the affirmative vote of the United States is necessary and equivalent to the united vote of the representatives of the several parts of the British empire. The united votes of the several parts of the British empire cannot offset or overcome the vote of the United States.

2. Is it true that under the league of nations, foreign countries can order the sending of American troops to foreign countries?

Answer: It is not. The right of congress to determine matters is in no wise impaired.

3. What effect will the league of nations have in either forwarding or hindering the final restoration of Shantung to China—what effect will the league of nations have in preventing the further spoliation of China and the abrogation of all such special privileges now enjoyed in China by foreign countries?

Answer: The league of nations will have a very powerful effect in forwarding the final restoration of Shantung to China and no other instrumentality or action can be substituted which could bring that result about. The authority of the league will, under article X, be constantly directed toward safeguarding the territorial integrity and political independence of China. It will, therefore, absolutely prevent the further spoliation of China, promote the restoration to China of the several privileges now long enjoyed by foreign countries, and assure China of the completion of the process by which Shantung will presently be returned to her in full sovereignty. In the past there has been no tribunal which could be resorted to for any of these purposes.

4. Is there anything in the league of nations covenant or peace treaty which directly or indirectly in any manner imposes on the United States and obligation, moral or otherwise of the slightest character, to support England in any way in case of revolt in Ireland?

Answer: There is not. The only guarantee contained in the covenant is against external aggression and those who framed the covenant were scrupulously careful in no way to interfere with what they regarded as the sacred right of self determination.

5. What effect, if any, will the league of nations covenant have in

The Jackson County Loan & Trust Company, the youngest financial institution in this city, has taken its place in the "Million-dollar" bank class. Its first statement since it reached the million-dollar figure was published Wednesday. The Trust Company engages in several lines of business which are not open to national banks. The management is enlarging these departments rapidly. This bank is making rapid strides and its growing popularity is evidenced by its steadily increasing volume of business.

POSTOFFICE WILL REMAIN AT MOONEY

Congressman Benham Notified That No Change Will be Made in The Service at That Place.

PETITION FILED BY CITIZENS

Patrons Objected to Recommendation of Inspector to Discontinue Office There.

The Mooney postoffice will not be discontinued at this time, according to information received by The Republican this morning from John S. Benham, congressman from the Fourth Indiana district. Congressman Benham stated that he had been officially advised by the postoffice department that there would be no change in the service at that town for the present, at least.

Recently a postoffice inspector recommended to the department in Washington that the Mooney postoffice be discontinued and that the patrons receive their mail from the two rural routes which pass through the town. The patrons of the office objected to the recommendation and took the matter up with Congressman Benham, who presented their position or protest.

The patrons of the office objected to the closing of the office because of the convenience in purchasing stamps and money orders. There are about thirty patrons served by the Mooney office.

The letter addressed to Mr. Benham by the postoffice department stating that the office will not be discontinued reads:

"Hon. John S. Benham,
"House of Representatives.
"My dear Mr. Benham:

"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th instant, stating that the patrons of the post office at Mooney, Indiana, protest against its discontinuance. The discontinuance of the Mooney office was contemplated as it was believed that the patrons could be adequately supplied by rural delivery. However, in view of your statements further action toward the discontinuance of the office will not be taken at this time.

"Very truly yours,

"J. W. JOHNSTON,
"Acting First Assistant Postmaster General."

Many Drive a HOT SPOT Chalmers 10,000 Miles or More Without a Penny's Outlay

SO easily, so smoothly, so throblessly, comes the power from that magnificent Chalmers Hot Spot engine that it "tears down" but little in its long mileage.

Many persons drive a Hot Spot 10,000 miles or more before a penny is spent for garage attention.

Such a thing as a foul spark plug in a 10,000 mile run is uncommon.

Grinding of valves is far less frequent than in many engines of the old type.

Tires last longer than the guarantee.

Most persons drive

a car about 10,000 miles a year, and ever so many go through their first twelve months in a Hot Spot Chalmers without opening their pocketbook, except for gas, oil and grease.

Hot Spot and Ram's-horn turn the trick. They kill vibration, make throbs impossible, provide the smoothest and the most consistent kind of power that comes from a gas engine today.

Try a mile with your foot on the throttle.

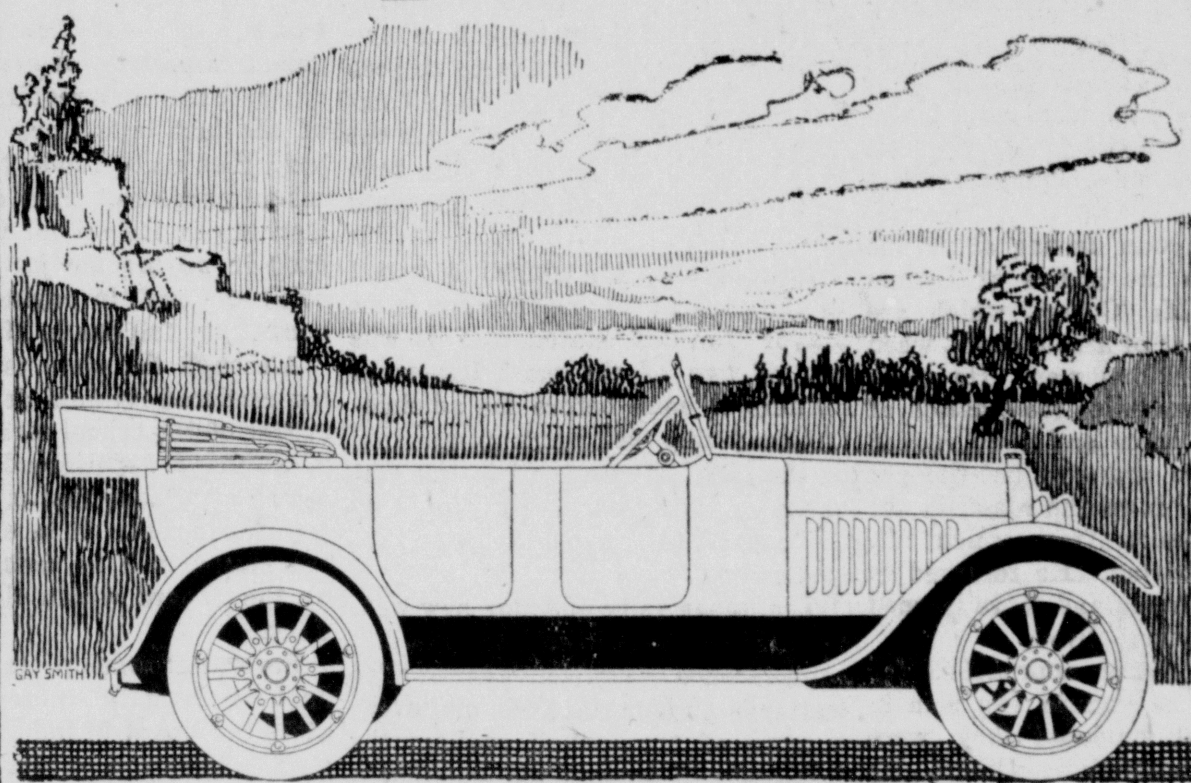

You too will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

PURDUE TO HOLD COURSE IN TRACTOR OPERATION

Instruction to be as Practical as Possible For Benefit of The Farmer.

By United Press
Lafayette, Sept. 18.—Announcement has just been made that a special two-weeks course in tractor operation will be held at Purdue university from September 22 to October 3 inclusive.

Instruction in the course will be made as practical as possible and will include the following subjects: Principles of gas engines operation, mechanical details of tractors, adjustment of bearings, valve grinding, magnetos and ignition systems, carburetors, lubrication, and oil systems, clutches, starting and operating tractors, trouble hunting, field operations, plow adjustments and brake and draw-bar testing. Actual operation and work will be given in the field in order that all members of the class may become acquainted with the various conditions under which the tractor is used.

Last year more than 100 farmers of the state took advantage of similar courses. This year, those in charge have arranged to have some of the latest models in tractors available for use and thus make it possible for those attending to become acquainted with all forms of the machine.

NEW ALBANY PRESBYTERY WILL MEET HERE IN SPRING

Two Days' Session Comes to Close at Brownstown Presbyterian Church Wednesday Evening.

The fall meeting of the New Albany Presbytery held at the Brownstown Presbyterian church came to a close Wednesday evening. The meetings were largely attended and many important matters of interest to the organization were taken up during the two days that the Presbytery was in session.

At the close of the meeting Wednesday evening Seymour was chosen as the place for holding the spring meeting of the New Albany Presbytery. Rev. J. H. More stated today that the date for the meeting had not been definitely decided other than it would be held during the month of April.

Feature at Princess.

"Life's Greatest Problem" is so powerful, so thrilling, so artistic and remarkable, that you will remember it throughout the balance of your days as one of the greatest attractions of all times. Do not let anything in the world interfere with your plans to see this master-production at the Princess Theatre today—it's the one big treat of the season. Also an Arbuckle Comedy.

BIG INCREASE IN THE NET TAXABLES

Appraisements Made This Year Exceed Figures of Last Year by $16,352,490.

$7,391,240 FOR THIS CITY

Compilations Made by Assessor and Auditor Following Recent Order to Boost Valuations.

The total net taxables of Jackson county this year are $36,150,320, according to a tabulation completed by James Branaman, county assessor, and Albert Luedtke, auditor, following a revision of figures which was made upon receipt of an order from the state board of tax commissioners to increase appraisements of both personal property and real estate. The new total, which does not include corporations assessed by the state board, is $19,352,490 more than the total last year. The total valuation last year was $16,797,830.

The reports were completed following much work on the part of the assessor, auditor and the auditor's deputy, C. H. Lautzenheiser. The board ordered increases of from ten to thirty percent in personal property and in order to secure the corrected figures the officials were compelled to take up each individual property schedule. The increases on real estate ranged from thirty to fifty percent. A few deductions were ordered.

The figures made by the officials were included in the report which was filed with the state board Tuesday at a hearing to determine whether the county's petition for increased revenue in 1920 would be granted. The board has consistently held that the revenue next year shall not exceed that of this year, unless the taxing unit can show that the additional money is absolutely necessary for the proper management of public business.

The figures showing the next taxables for the townships, city and towns in the county for 1920 and for this year are:

WOMEN DOING WAR WORK

During the war women were called into almost every vocation in life, and right well did they assume the responsibilities and fill such positions. In many instances, however, their strength has been overtaxed, and such ailments as are peculiar to their sex have fastened themselves upon them. Such women should remember there is a tried and true remedy for their troubles in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than three generations has been relieving the women of America from some of the worst forms of female ills.

PRINCE ALBERT

The national joy smoke

TALK about smokes, Prince Albert is geared to a joyhandout standard that just lavishes smokehappiness on every man game enough to make a bee line for a tidy red tin and a jimmy pipe—old or new!

Get it straight that what you've hankered for in pipe or cigarette makin's smokes you'll find aplenty in P. A. That's because P. A. has the quality!

You can't any more make Prince Albert bite your tongue or parch your throat than you can make a horse drink when he's off the water! Bite and parch are cut out by our exclusive patented process!

You just lay back like a regular fellow and puff to beat the cards and wonder why in samhill you didn't nail a section in the P. A. smokepasture longer than you care to remember back!

Buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold. Toppo red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors—and—that clever, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

The Man of The Hour....

You know hm,—at least you have heard about him and you will hear more of him.

He's the sort of fellow who as a young man laid out his scheme of life and followed it through.

During the war he put his money into Liberty bonds instead of squandering it with so-called "good fellows."

He saved his money and is a national asset not a public liability. He is a saver of money, of vitality, of self respect.

He has faith in himself and in his country. He banks on the future. So he knows he must bank in the present.

He saves what he can each week. He saves regularly and watches it grow. He cannot help succeeding because he has the habit of saving systematically.

His savings placed in our savings department bring him 3 per cent. interest. His regular checking account has careful attention at our bank. His valuable papers are absolutely safe in our fireproof, burglar-proof vault.

judged by the court that no conspiracy was ever entered into by and between the defendants, William H. Eikenberry, Alva N. Harold, Oliver J. Frazee, William Boyd, Arthur P. Foreum and Pharoah N. plaint herein. That as against the defendants, William H. Eikenberry, Alva N. Harold, Oliver J. Frazee, William Boyd, Pharoah N. Hill and Arthur P. Foreum, the plaintiff take nothing by this suit and that each of said defendants have and recover of the plaintiff their costs in this behalf laid out and expended."

The settlement was, in fact, made directly by William Sanford and his son with William Dagler, they being the parties who in reality received all the benefit in the trade in question, and the only parties thereto.

The only local attorneys interested in this case were John A. Tittsworth, who represented Dagler, and Donald L. Smith, who was attorney for Eikenberry.

This ends what would have been a long and bitterly fought suit.

Callus? "Gets-It" Will Peel It Off!

Nothing on Earth Like Simple "Gets-It" for Corns or Calluses.

A callus, or thickened skin on the sole of the foot, which often makes walking a misery is of the same nature as a corn. "Gets-It"

Use "Gets-It" and Dance. Even with Corns removes it as easily as it does the toughest corns. By using a few drops of "Gets-It" on the callus, you will be able to peel it off with your fingers, in one complete piece just as you would a banana peel. It leaves the skin free and smooth as though you never had a callus. You need no more fussy plasters, sticky tape, "package" bandages, knives or scissors for corns or calluses. "Gets-It" is the national corn remover, the biggest on earth, used by millions. It never fails. You'll work, play and dance at ease in spite of corns. "Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Seymour and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by C. E. Loertz and Maxon Pharmacy.

Reddington reported that they had seen a car without lights just north of Reddington.

Claude Beem, exchange operator, notified the police here, at Columbus and Elizabethtown. When the car approached Columbus the policemen there ordered the driver to stop. After checking the speed of the machine the man jumped and fled. Several shots were fired after him, but he escaped and has not been located. It is not known where the other party left the car but two men were in the stolen machine when it was driven through Reddington.

This is the second auto theft that has occurred in the Reddington neighborhood recently. About two weeks ago Heral Haskett was stopped by four men while he was en route from this city to his home in Reddington township. He consented to carry them as far as his home, but when he turned from the main road into a lane leading to his home the men pulled revolvers and forced him to turn the machine over to them. They were captured at Franklin and are now held in the county jail awaiting trial.

Accuracy in Prescriptions

A broader term than many suppose. Some people imagine it relates only to chemicals or preparations bearing the same name as that appearing on the prescription. This is one step only. To complete the sense of the term each ingredient must be pure—must be capable of exerting the highest medical effect. We believe in accuracy of this kind. It has given us the esteem of the physicians and the confidence of the public. Will take good care of your prescription. We don't charge extra for this carefulness.

NO BIDS OFFERED FOR IMPROVEMENT

Busy Contractors Do Not Want The Contract for Paving Husted Alley in Block C.

That the contractors of Seymour are evidently busy and are not interested in any city contracts at present was substantiated at the adjourned session of the city council held Wednesday evening to receive bids for the improvement of what is known as the Husted alley in Block C between Second and Third streets and Indianapolis avenue and Ewing street. Not a single bid was offered and as a result it will be necessary that the city re-advertise for bids and as it is getting late in the season it is likely that the improvement will not be made before spring.

Eugene Ireland, chairman of the council committee appointed to take up the sewerage system proposition with the committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce made his report at the council meeting. Councilman Ireland stated that the two committees had perfected an organization to go into the sewerage proposition thoroughly. Mr. Ireland is chairman of the organization and Clark B. Davis, of the citizens' committee, is secretary.

The sewerage committee will hold another meeting in the near future at which time the proposition will be threshed out from every angle. It is the intention of the committee to employ a civil engineer who specializes in making surveys for sewers to come here and assist the city engineer in making the sewer survey in Seymour. Mr. Ireland stated that the members of the sewerage committees were enthusiastic over the proposed improvement and are ready to work for the interest of the public. The committee is composed of Eugene Ireland, chairman, Clark B. Davis, secretary, Albert Ahlbrand, Dr. G. G. Graessle, George Bartlett, P. A. Nichter, Councilmen Emery and Buse and Robert Hall, city engineer.

Several other important matters were discussed at the adjourned council meeting Wednesday night following which the councilmen held a board of works session for a short time at which some important matters were taken up. The council will meet again in regular session next Wednesday night.

Mrs. Henry Stotz of Vallonia, spent Wednesday here shopping.

Mrs. Hattie Waggoner returned to her home in Indianapolis Wednesday afternoon after attending the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth McKain at Freetown.

THE STORY OF THE CLOCK

(By Carrie S. Newman, Author of "The Kindergarten in the Home.")

"Come, Betty," said Mother, "put away your dolls. It is time for bed."

"Oh mama," pleaded Betty, "I don't want to go to bed yet. I'm not a bit sleepy."

"But, Betty, look at the clock. The hands are pointing to 7 and you know that is bedtime."

"Horrid old clocks! I wish they'd all stop and never go again," muttered Betty as she tucked Matilda Jane and Josephine into the carriage in which they slept.

"Tick-tock, tick-tock," sounded the dining room clock in the night, and in the quietness its voice seemed to grow louder and louder.

"What's the matter?" inquired the kitchen clock from its shelf, "you seem to be angry."

"Didn't you hear what Betty said before she went to bed? I think I'll stop and see how she likes it."

"Well, if you stop, I'll stop," answered the kitchen clock.

The tall grandfather's clock in the hall paused to listen to the conversation. "If they are both going to stop, I'll stop too. I am quite tired ticking day and night and would like a rest."

Betty opened her eyes. How quiet the house was! But it was quite light and must be time to get up. She tiptoed into mother's room. Mother was wide awake, but still in bed. Isn't it time to get up?" asked Betty.

"I don't know, dear; the clocks have all stopped."

Betty dressed and ran downstairs. No breakfast ready. "You see I didn't know what time it was. All the clocks have stopped," explained Hannah.

When Betty had finished her breakfast she put on her hat and ran down the street to call for her little chum, Pearl, to go to kindergarten.

"Why, Betty, you are very late," said Pearl's mother. "Pearl has been gone some time."

Betty hurried down the street. Not a child in sight. No one on the playground. She crept up under the window and listened, then turned and ran home, the tears trickling down her cheeks.

"I'm sorry, little daughter," said Mother, "but I had no way of telling the time."

"Do you think it's anywhere near 1 o'clock?" asked Betty a few hours later. "You know, Uncle James promised me a ride if I came at 1."

"You'd better run over and see," said mother.

But alas for poor Betty! She ran around the corner just in time to see Uncle James disappear in the distance.

"Betty, Betty, wake up!" and Betty opened her eyes to find Mother standing by her bedside.

She sat up and listened intently, then threw her arms around Mother's neck, exclaiming, "Oh I'm so glad it was only a dream!"

And before she ate her breakfast Betty crept over by the clock and whispered: "I'm sorry I called you names. I'll never do it again."

The Old Tin Coffee Pot

What would a picnic be without coffee? The very word "picnic" brings the entrancing odor which gives the final sweetness to an air already filled with the odors of woods or sea. Woe unto the hostess who is so misguided as to neglect to provide coffee because the day is warm and she herself happens to prefer iced tea or lemonade. I should surely find her guilty of false pretences if she invited me to a picnic and left her coffee pot at home.

Speaking of coffee pots, I wonder why the smoky tin pot which comes out of its winter exile with the first days of spring in any family inoculated with the picnic habit seems to make a beverage which is indeed a nectar, when propped between two stones over the glowing coals. Would it taste the same if one was bold enough to try it during the winter over the kitchen range? But who would dare treat the magic pot with such disrespect; it is consecrated to outdoor service. Magic indeed it seems to one whose traditions tell him that percolators and boiling water are necessary to produce that clear and sparkling beverage which does credit to the name of coffee.

"HANDMADE" COFFEE

It is wonderful to find that "handmade" coffee needs besides the smoky pot just coffee and water. "Fill the pot at the spring," commands the charming vestal who has been superintending the laying of the fire while we servitors gathered the twigs, "No, not in the basin, fill it with running water. Don't you know you must have sparkling water to make clear coffee!"

I am not quite sure that I believe her, for it seems to me that I remember a marvelous beverage the last time I went fishing when I dipped the water from a rather muddy lake, and yet when I drink her sparkling coffee I admit that she is right. In the meantime on knowledge bent I question her:

"What next?"

"Just coffee, there in that cheese-cloth bag, put it in."

"Oh, Mercy, not like that!" For I in my ignorance had untied the bag and had begun to empty the loose coffee into the pot. After rescuing most of it, we tie it into its bag again, put it into the pot and before long it is merrily boiling.

I ask her how she guesses how much coffee to use but she tells me that there is no "guess" about it, "If you had made coffee as many times as I have in that old tin pot, you would know that when filled to its nose it holds three quarts of water and for that I use two cups of ground coffee. I measured it at home and tied it in the cloth ready to pop into the pot."

Thus I learned that what the sparkling water made certain the homemade strainer made doubly sure. To make my lesson complete, I am told that if the cloth should be forgotten all is not lost. There might still be clear coffee, if after it had boiled a few moments, a cup of cold water was added. And as even after acquiring a magic tin pot of my own (from the twenty-five cent store) and becoming a really expert coffee maker, the cloth usually seems to get itself lost or forgotten when I pack a picnic basket, I have found the postscript as helpful as the text and my coffee settles while the steak broils and the two perfumes mingle.

Someone once told me that the strength would be better maintained by stuffing the spout with paper while the coffee cooked, but what pleasurable anticipations would be lost! No—ask me not to stuff the spout, my old tin pot shall continue to bubble forth tantalizing odors.

THE VACUUM BOTTLE.

Although I have been singing the praises of the plain old fashioned tin pot, do not think me scornful of the great modern invention, the vacuum bottle. It has saved the day and my digestion and temper on many a "sandwich" picnic that would have been unbearably dry without a hot cup of coffee. I can forgive missing the tantalizing aroma because of the happy relief when the cork comes out and instead of the cold drink which I had dreaded the blessed smell at last greets us. At that moment I could be tempted to subscribe to a fund for indigent vacuum bottle inventors.

And of course at any time, if history divulges the originator of the old tin coffee pot, I should like to head the list for a monument to him—somehow I have a feeling that the inventor was a man.

DRIED TOMATO PASTE.

Prepare the tomatoes as for canning. Put to cook with no water in an enamel kettle; when tender put through a sieve and cook the pulp until it is very thick, then place it over hot water in a slow oven, where it may dry out without danger of scorching. It may be then sealed in hot sterile jars or further dried on plates, cut in squares and store in moisture-proof containers. This paste may be used for soups, sauces or scalloped dishes. One teaspoonful of the paste will make a dish of soup.

Drying Peaches

Peaches are usually dried unpeeled although a superior variety is by removing the skins. Select peaches for drying which are ripe but not soft. Wash, cut in half, remove stone and place in trays with the pit side up.

Many housewives use a lye solution for removing the skins. Dissolve two pounds of commercial concentrated lye in 10 gallons of water. When boiling hot, place the peaches in a wire or wooden basket and plunge into the solution for 1 to 2 minutes, moving the basket up and down to hasten contact with the lye.

Lift from lye when fine cracks or checks in the peel appear. Plunge immediately into cold water and move about to wash off the lye. Remove the skins by rubbing between the hands or with a brush. Wash out pits and place on the drier, cavity side up.

surface, the product is sufficiently dry. Transfer from the drier to large, clean wooden or pasteboard boxes and cover with muslin which will admit the air and exclude insects. Place the box in a warm room in a rather dark spot. Stir daily until the fruit is in a uniform condition, after which pack it in permanent containers and store in a dry, airy place.

Answers by Carolina Jewett

Dear Miss Jewett: I have two daughters, seventeen and twenty, who are real nice girls and attractive, and who were pretty steady up until a few weeks ago. Now both of them think they are crazy in love with two young men—friends—they met at a party and they are both talking about getting married. Now what I ask is, how can I find out all about these two young men? They have been here only a short time although they seem all right to me, I want to investigate them before this thing goes any further.

You are quite right. I advise you to have a talk with them the next time they call to see your daughters, and ask them to give you the name and address of their parents or, perhaps, some one who has known them from young boyhood. Then a discreet, polite letter to these persons ought to bring you replies indicative of the character, reputation and "past performances" of the suitors of your two daughters. Personally, I am strongly opposed to the notion of girls of the tender age of seventeen marrying.

Dear Miss Jewett: I exchange letters with a young man who lives in another city. I met him when he was in camp where I went to see my brother. He used to address me in his letters as "Dear Miss—" but lately he writes to me as "Dear Marie". Now his letters have never been more than just friendly and I wonder if he means anything by doing this. I write him as "Dear Mr."

Don't worry about whether he "means anything" by it. When he has decided about that he will write it in plain English, I believe.

Dear Miss Jewett: My hands perspire terribly and cause me a great deal of annoyance, especially when I shake hands with folks I meet in the office. What shall I apply to my palms to stop this embarrassing perspiration?

Do not use anything it is quite natural. To apply any foreign substance would annoy your friends a great deal more than the perspiration.

Dear Miss Jewett: Do you think they put drugs or anything of that sort in cigarettes?

No.

of ginger root and the same amount of sweet red pepper. Boil this five minutes, then strain it over six large apples cut in slivers and one cupful of raisins. Onion and coriander seed are often added. Cook until the apples are soft, then pack in jars and keep well covered.

PICKLING TIME.

For those who like a few dill pickles the following recipe will be useful: Put the pickles cut for the table, or not, into a two quart jar; more will be packed if cut for the table. Add a tablespoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar and a quarter of a cupful of vinegar, fill the jar with cold water, with a small bunch of dill; seal and put away for the winter use.

SWEET RED PEPPER PICKLE. Grind together five dozen sweet red peppers, one dozen sweet onions; put on to cook in a quart of vinegar for 15 minutes, then add two cupfuls of brown sugar, one tablespoonful of salt and a little celery seed. Boil slowly one hour. This is especially good for a sandwich filling.

CHAPTER III.

Accident—or Murder?

MacKnight's caustic estimate of the steamer's size had not been very wide of the mark. The Monleigh was certainly very small, and certainly a frowsy, unkempt and weatherbeaten little craft; and her general appearance bespoke her as one of those homeless, vagrant waifs of the ocean that knew no schedule—that took the crumbs of the world's commerce where she could find them—and was grateful for the crumbs.

Wallen had been afraid that morning that he was in for a relapse, but he had no fever now—there was none of that disquieting giddiness in his head, and—he smiled happily to himself—a few days at sea would put him back again in his old form.

He sat up in his bunk as the ship's bell sounded from forward. Two bells—five o'clock in the afternoon. He got up, went over to the wash basin and plunged in his head.

How had Helen MacKay—she had

If you want the cleanest of white teeth and healthy gums free from disease, an easy and quick way to get both is to use a tooth paste so effective and perfect that astonishing results usually come in a week's time.

And the cost is so little. Just go to any drug or department store, and get a large tube of SENRECO TOOTH PASTE for 35 cents.

Not only will it make your teeth clean and white, but it will at once remove any filmy coating, help to check the ravages of Pyorrhea and banish acidity in the mouth.

It is used by thousands of dentists, and its sale has been remarkable. When you visit your dentist, which you should do at least twice a year, ask him about SENRECO. It's a most delightful and refreshing tooth paste.

"but I'm still sticking to guinine."
"Guinine, eh?" repeated the other. "Yes, of course! Yes—right you are! Well—he poured a glass for himself—here's to you, and just as hearty if I drink alone. And I'll add, Mr. Wallen, that it's to the rummest meeting that ever I've known in my life!"

Wallen watched the man's neat disposal of four fingers, leaned back on the locker, swept his eyes around the cabin, and, suddenly looking up at the captain again, intercepted a furtive glance that the other was stealing at him over the rim of his glass.

"That ever I've known," said the captain hastily as his eyes dropped. "There'll be a lot to say to each other, Mr. Wallen."

"Yes," Wallen agreed. "I'll confess I'm puzzled on several points, Captain—Laynton, isn't it? I'm not sure I caught the name correctly when Miss MacKay introduced us."

"That's right," said the other. "Laynton. Captain Laynton—Mark Laynton."

"Well, Captain Laynton," said Wallen, "your reference to our meeting being a rum one only leaves me a little more up in the air. I can understand, of course, that you might have heard of the Upolo being missing—or reported lost; but I can't understand how you knew I was on her—or, knowing that, what interest you could have in me."

Captain Laynton laughed a little in a constrained way.

"I didn't know anything about the bark's loss until I put in here yesterday and heard there was a survivor from her on the other side of the island—but I knew about you fast enough."

"Captain Laynton—Mark Laynton."

He paused, shot a swift, restless glance at Wallen, then began to pace, three steps one way, three steps the other, up and down the narrow cabin.

"D—n it, man!" he said abruptly. "I've got bad news for you. Your father's dead!"

For a moment Wallen neither moved nor spoke. It was difficult to grasp the full significance of the words. His father—dead!

What did this thin-faced man, with the little black eyes that always refused to meet one's own, who was tramping nervously now up and down a little cabin on a rusty tramp steamer here in the Java sea, at the other end of the world, know of his father, who never left the four walls of that lonely gray stone house in California?

"What do you know about my father?"—he found himself speaking in a quiet voice.

Captain Laynton stopped impulsively in front of his table, pulled the drawer open, took out a sheet of paper and handed it to Wallen.

"You'll get the drift of this yourself, I guess," he ventured.

Wallen stared at the paper, at first with curious bewilderment—and then, with the sudden flash of comprehension, he was on his feet. It was a list of the ports of call scheduled for the ill-fated Upolo on her last voyage—ports of call that she had never made.

"What does this mean?" he demanded in a low voice. "How did you come by this?"

"Your father gave it to me," the captain answered. "And now, if you'll just listen for a minute, I'll give you the whole story, and you'll see for yourself. First I might as well tell you, though, that I own this ship. Well, I was in Honolulu—light, you understand—when your father came aboard one evening and offered to charter me for a three months' cruise down here. He made the price right, paid the money down in advance, and I closed with him."

"He gave me the list of ports, and said his son was on a trading bark called the Upolo, and that he wanted to get track of him as soon as possible, and offered an extra bonus for all hands if we made a quick job of it. That's all I know about the reason for the cruise. Well, to cut a long story short, we started away, and were down just south of the line when the accident happened."

"Your father was alone down in his cabin. We heard a shot, rushed below, and, thinking it strange that he didn't show up in the excitement, called to him—but got no answer. Well, we burst in his cabin door and found him dead across the bunk."

"You mean," said Wallen through tight lips, "that he committed suicide?"

"No. Wait!" Captain Laynton shook his head. "It wasn't that. God knows how it happened! The thing went off—that's all. He was cleaning one of those patent automatic pistols."

"There was a bottle of oil, a cleaning rag, and a wire swabbing brush on the floor. And"—Laynton poured himself another glass from the bottle, gulped it down, and wiped his lips with the back of his hand—"well, I'm trying to give it to you in a few words—we buried him at sea of course."

THE "BLUES"
Caused by Acid-Stomach

Millions of people who worry, are despondent, have spells of mental depression, feel blue and are often melancholy, believe that these conditions are due to outside influences over which they have little or no control. Nearly always, however, they can be traced to an internal source—acid-stomach. Nor is it to be wondered at. Acid-stomach, beginning with such well defined symptoms as indigestion, belching, heartburn, bloating, etc., will, if not checked, in time affect to some degree or other all the vital organs. The nervous system becomes deranged. Digestion suffers. The blood is impoverished. Health and strength are undermined. The victim of acid-stomach, although he may not know the cause of his ailments, feels his hope, courage, ambition and energy slipping. And truly life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman who has acid-stomach!

Get rid of it! Don't let acid-stomach hold you back, wreck your health, make your days miserable, make you a victim of the "blues" and gloomy thoughts! There is a marvelous modern remedy called EATONIC that brings, oh! such quick relief from your stomach misery—sets your stomach to rights—makes it strong, cool, sweet and comfortable. Helps you get back your strength, vigor, vitality, enthusiasm and good cheer. So many thousands upon thousands of sufferers have used EATONIC with such marvelously helpful results that you are sure you will feel the same way if you will just give it a trial. Get a big 50 cent box of EATONIC—the good tasting tablets that you eat like a bit of candy—from your druggist today. He will return your money if results are not even more than you expect.

Perfection's Price In Tire Building

A tire-maker's first problem is to decide how much he can give for the money. This, and every other question in tire building, depends upon policies.

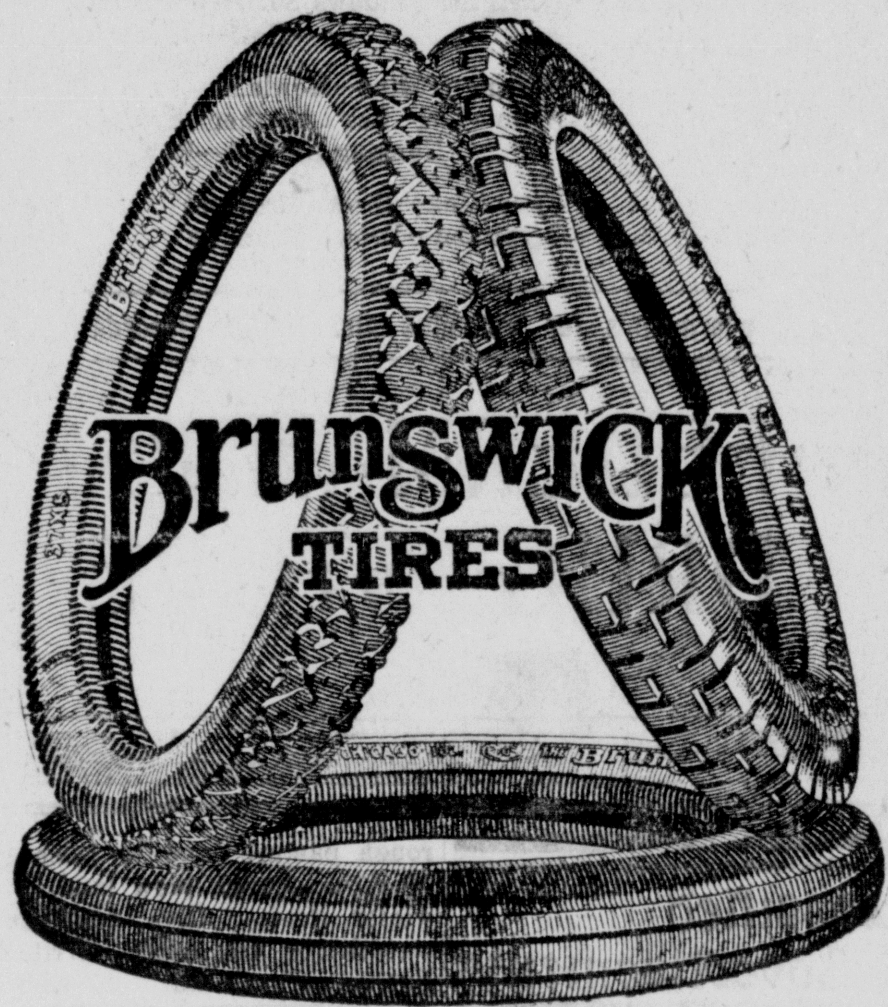

A super-tire, such as The Brunswick, can be made only by a concern which knows well and appreciates that there is nothing exclusive in the tire industry except high standards.

Since 1845 the House of Brunswick has held first place in every line it entered. Brunswick Tires, as more and more motorists come to know them, will certainly be awarded that coveted place held only by the superfine.

Motorists who buy one Brunswick usually adopt it for complete equipment. Yet this is not strange, since the first one so completely proves its superiority.

If the name of Brunswick certifies to you, as to most men, an extraordinary tire, at no higher price, would it not be good business to test one or two Brunswick Tires?

The deceased was a brother of Ford Cox who was killed on the Baltimore & Ohio near Shields four months ago.

CONGRESS GIVES PERSHING AN ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME

Senator Cumming and Speaker Gillett Greet American Commander-in-Chief.

By United Press

Washington, September 16—Congress told the world today who won the war—"Black Jack" Pershing.

The reception it gave the returning head of the American expeditionary forces broke all records for enthusiasm. Senator Cummings, representing Vice-President Marshall, who could not attend, greeted Pershing for the senate.

Speaker Gillett welcomed Pershing in behalf of the house, declaring that he was the finest type of the spirit of the American army.

SOCIAL EVENTS

VISIT SKATING RINK.

Miss Lucille Misamore, Misses Bonnie and Louise Belding, Miss Beulah Barnum, Harry Hedges, Leo Nielander and William Fettig, visited the skating rink at Crothersville Wednesday evening.

EASTERN STAR CLUB.

Mrs. Tom Lester, 615 North Chestnut street, very pleasantly entertained the Eastern Star Club Wednesday afternoon. Twelve members and two visitors were present. Following the business, a social hour was held and refreshments served.

ATTEND LUNCHEON AND BRIDGE

Mrs. J. H. Andrews and Mrs. J. J. Peter, were guests at a luncheon given Wednesday noon by Mrs. Ray Marr, at her home in Columbus. In the afternoon they attended a bridge party at the home of Mrs. H. Lee Bassett, North Franklin street, Columbus. Seven tables were in play. The house was attractively decorated with autumn flowers and dainty refreshments were served.

ENTERTAIN.

Mrs. U. G. Palmer, North Blish street, entertained a number of guests Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Edith Cooley of Crete, Ill., who is visiting in this city. The evening was spent with music and dancing and light refreshments were served.

The guests included Miss Cooley, Miss Clara Williams, Edna and Stella Gossett, Monclova Fields, Alice and Irene Monroe, and Eloise Lee.

WIENER ROAST.

The members of the faculty and the Senior class of the Cortland High School enjoyed a wiener and marshmallow roast at White River, near Bell's Ford bridge Monday evening.

Those present were Prof. and Mrs. Tatlock, Miss Cline, Miss Bertha Hanger, and the members of the Senior Class, Francis Abel, Temple Jenkins, Alfred Naffe, Della Tindler, Lenore Bennett and Marie Weekly.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS.

Mrs. J. H. W. Kasting, 218 West Bruce street, entertained with a six o'clock dinner Wednesday evening in honor of the birthday anniversaries of her daughter, Miss Edna, and of Edward C. Petterman. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Livensparger and children, Jean and John, Mr. and Mrs. Petterman, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. W. Kasting and Miss Edna Kasting.

In the evening a number of young people called at the Kasting home as a surprise to Miss Kasting. The evening was spent with music and rook, three tables being at play. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and candy were served at the close of the evening. Miss Kasting received a number of gifts.

Those present were Miss Elma Naffe, of Cortland, Misses Mabel and Edna Hodapp, Inez and Irene Pfennig, Minnie Schleter, Amelia Schleter, Edna Kasting, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Livensparger and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Petterman, Edwin Schleter, Carlyle Allen, Artus Hufnagle, Charles Hemmer and Frank Stockholder, of Cortland.

UNIQUE SHOWER.

Unique in artistic charm and beauty was "Cedar Lane" the country home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stratton Wednesday evening when about fifty guests responded to shower invitations in honor of Miss Esther Doane, a bride-elect.

Varied sizes, shapes and designs of Japanese lanterns adorned the lawn where the guests were seated during a mock trial in which the bride and groom to be, the latter represented by Mr. H. G. Stratton, were participants in a breach of promise suit. Mr. T. M. Honan and Judge O. O. Swails, and Mrs. C. D. Hopewell acted as lawyers for the plaintiff and defendant, Mr. T. S. Blish as judge and Fred Able as sheriff.

At the close of the trial the guests were led by the bride-elect into the living room which was a veritable fairyland. Countless bluebirds of all sizes were suspended promiscuously from the ceiling and every nook and corner was filled with baskets of autumn flowers. In the open fireplace was a huge nest of straw and filled with the bride's gifts. Over this hovered a mother bluebird. The room was lighted with candles. The bluebird idea was carried out in every feature.

In the center of each of the twelve tables was a crystal French basket of blue and white ageratum surrounded by four blue candles. At each corner was a blue basket filled with mints. The refreshments were basket shaped ices and cake.

The bride opened the gifts, which were elegant and elaborate.

The guests included Mrs. A. E. Murphy of Brownstown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cayce Morrison, of New York,

If you have in mind the purchase of silverware, don't hesitate if it is something for which you have use. Good silverware will last for years. For instance, teaspoons or forks such as we sell in the 1847 ROGERS BROS. quality are often reported as having outlasted a generation, so it is economy to buy this kind of goods rather than very cheap kinds that look pretty enough when new but which, after but a short period of constant use, must be replaced.

It sure does pay to buy good silverware. Let us show some of the handsome patterns we have in either hindering or furthering the cause of Irish freedom?

Answer: It was not possible for the peace conference to act with regard to the self determination of any territories except those which had belonged to the defeated empires, but in the covenant of the league of nations it has set up for the first time in article X, a forum to which all claims of self determination which are likely to disturb the peace of the world or the good understanding between nations upon which the peace of the world depends, can be brought.
